

BROOKLYN TABLET SEPT 5

go down in history

To the ball fans we suggest that if they like this idea to submit it in a hurry to the individuals listed in the first paragraph. We want no credit.

COLORED STARS AT EBBETS FIELD

When the Newark Eagles square off against the champion Homestead Grays in the double-header tomorrow (Sunday) at Ebbets Field, the result will have a vital bearing on the Negro baseball championship. The Grays are the Yankees of the Colored loop and are seeking their seventh straight title.

If they are going to capture the championship the Eagles must find a way to stop Josh Gibson, the Colored Babe Ruth. Josh has averaged 45 homers per season and has a lifetime batting mark of .349. Josh is one of the few batsmen ever to hit a ball into the left field bleachers at the Yankee Stadium. Hank Greenberg and Jimmy Foxx are in that select company. The games will be the first that two Colored teams have swung into action at Ebbets Field since 1935 when the Newark Club, then known as the Brooklyn Eagles, played at the home park of the Dodgers.
